Former By The Tree frontman Chuck Dennie is following up his recent #1 single "Beautiful One" with his first single release as a solo artist. "Win This War" is the title track of a new CD release featuring new performances by artists and bands such as Matthew West, downhere, Michael O'Brien, Mike Weaver (Big Daddy Weave) and By The Tree.

The album "Win This War" is the brainchild of best-selling author Fred Stoeker ("Every Man's Battle" series), whose new Waterbrook Press title Tactics is now impacting Christian retail. A companion album to the book Tactics, Win This War contains songs that commend young men to lives of sexual purity in the face of our society's onslaught of pornography.

"There is a huge battle being fought by all of us as men to be sexually pure" says Dennie. Fred's new book Tactics, along with songs like "Win This War" encourage us to stay in the fight and see Christ glorified in this area of our lives."

Clocking in at just 3:10, "Win This War" has a hook as powerful as its message. While they're screaming out the chorus, this rock anthem will remind listeners of the importance of winning the battle against our flesh.

With international distribution and a national promotional campaign to retailers and church youth groups, the one-two punch of Tactics and Win This War will help encourage young men nationwide to enjoin the battle.

We're looking for your enlistment May 11!
